f Terms, Data Policy and Cookies Policy

Please accept our updated Terms to continue using Facebook

We've updated our Terms to better explain our service and what we ask of everyone using Facebook.

We've made it easier for you to control your data, privacy and security settings in one place, which you can do any time in Settings. We've also updated our Data Policy and Cookies Policy to reflect the new features we've been working on, and to explain more about how we create a personalized experience for you. Updates include:

- new features such as Marketplace, camera effects and accessibility tools

- more detail about how our systems process things you share, such as text, photos and videos

- how we share information, systems and technology across the Facebook Company Products, including WhatsApp, Instagram and Oculus

- adding Instagram, a service provided by Facebook Ireland, to the Data Policy

By tapping I Accept, you accept the updated Terms. If you don't want to accept the Terms, see your options.
